State and Local Tax Information

Interest from direct obligations of the U.S. Government is specifically exempted from state and local income taxes when held directly by taxpayers. All states allow the character of interest income from direct obligations of the U.S. Government received by a regulated investment company to pass through to shareholders, subject to certain state threshold requirements. Some states may allow the character of interest income from federal agency obligations received by a regulated investment company to pass through to shareholders, subject to certain state threshold requirements. Listed below is the percentage of interest earned by the various types of issues held by the BBH U.S. Government Money Market Fund during 2024:

Direct U.S. Government Obligations		73.73%
Federal Agency Obligations:
FADN	5.07%	5.07%
Repurchase Agreements		21.20%
Total		100.00%

You can determine the amount of the exemption by multiplying the ordinary income dividends you received in 2024 by the percentage earned from direct U.S. Government and Federal Agency Obligations detailed in the table above. Please consult your tax advisor regarding this exemption.

For Corporate Shareholders Only:

Section 163(j) Interest Dividend Information

A portion of the dividends reported in Box 1a on your Form 1099-DIV may be eligible to be treated by corporate (and certain other) shareholders as Section 163(j) interest dividends and thus as business interest income when determining the limitation on the business interest expense deduction.

To calculate the per share amount of 163(j) interest dividends, multiply the amount of ordinary dividend income (Box 1a) from the BBH U.S. Government Money Market Fund by the the Section 163(j) interest dividend percentage of 99.71%.

Certain holding period limitations and other exceptions may apply. Consult your tax advisor to determine applicability.

BBH PARTNER FUND - INTERNATIONAL EQUITY

The BBH Partner Fund - International Equity Class I paid distributions of $0.1876 per share during 2024 as follows:

Rate Class I	Type	Payable Date	Reinvestment Date/Ex-Date	Record Date
$0.1876	Dividend	December 16	December 13	December 12

U.S. Income Tax Information

The dividend paid in 2024 from the BBH Partner Fund - International Equity will be reported in Box 1a on your Form 1099-DIV and is considered an ordinary dividend for federal income tax purposes. The amount shown in Box 1b is qualified dividend income and may be subject to a reduced tax rate.

The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 (TCJA) retained preferential rates on qualified dividends and the 3.8% net investment tax. The TCJA separated the tax-rate thresholds for dividend income from the tax brackets for ordinary income for taxpayers with higher income and is capped at 20%. The rate on qualified dividends applies to dividends paid by most domestic and foreign corporations to BBH Partner Fund - International Equity which were held by the Fund for at least 61 days during the 121-day period beginning 60 days before the stock's ex-dividend date. In order to claim this reduced rate of tax on qualified dividends, you, as a shareholder, must also satisfy the holding period requirements mentioned previously. Therefore, you must determine if your shares in the Fund have been held for at least 61 days during the 121-day period beginning 60 days before the Fund's ex-dividend date (please refer to table above for ex-dividend dates) to determine the amount of qualified dividend income shown in Box 1b that may be subject to a reduced maximum tax rate. If you should determine that any of the qualified dividend income shown in Box 1b is no longer qualified due to holding period violations of your shares, the dividend income will not be subject to the reduced maximum tax rate and should be reported with other non-qualified dividend income.

The BBH Partner Fund - International Equity has elected under section 853 of the Internal Revenue Code to pass through to its shareholders the opportunity to claim foreign taxes withheld as either a credit or a deduction. Therefore, you are deemed to have paid directly the foreign taxes included in Box 6 on your Form 1099-DIV. A foreign tax credit will generally result in a direct reduction in your U.S. tax liability, subject to certain limitations.

As a result of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997, individuals who choose to claim a credit and have less than $300 of creditable taxes ($600 for married couples filing jointly) and no foreign source income other than passive income, may elect to claim the foreign tax credit for these amounts directly on Schedule 3 of Form 1040 and are not required to file Form 1116 with their tax return. When making the election to claim the foreign tax credit without filing Form 1116, you must enter directly on Schedule 3 of Form 1040 the smaller of (a) your total foreign tax or (b) your regular tax from Form 1040, line 12a. You will be required to file Form 1116 to claim a tax credit if you have amounts in excess of those stated above or have other foreign taxes not reported on Form 1099-DIV. For corporations, Form 1118 must be completed to claim a foreign tax credit. If you choose to deduct your foreign taxes, they must be reported on Schedule A of your Form 1040 as an itemized deduction.

The information contained within the table below will assist you in calculating the information necessary to claim either a credit or itemized deduction. While it may not be necessary in order to substantiate the credit, if you would like to calculate your foreign source income by country, multiply your ordinary dividends (Box 1a of Form 1099-DIV) by each factor shown in the 'Foreign Income Factor' column. To calculate your foreign taxes paid by country, multiply your foreign taxes paid (Box 7 of Form 1099-DIV) by each factor shown in the 'Foreign Tax Factor' column.

Total	100.00%	100.00%

In order to claim a foreign tax credit, you, as a shareholder, must also satisfy certain holding period requirements with respect to your mutual fund shares. If the holding period requirements are not met, the foreign taxes will qualify as itemized deductions only. Please consult your tax advisor to determine whether the foreign taxes passed through to you by the fund are either creditable or qualify as an itemized deduction, and whether to make the election to exempt you from the foreign tax credit limitations and the filing requirement of Form 1116.

BBH SELECT SERIES - LARGE CAP FUND

The BBH Select Series - Large Cap Fund Class I paid distributions of $0.6478 during 2024 as follows:

Rate Class I	Type	Payable Date	Reinvestment Date/Ex-Date	Record Date
$0.0532	Dividend	December 16	December 13	December 12
$0.5946	Capital Gain LT	December 16	December 13	December 12

U.S. Income Tax Information

The dividend paid in 2024 from BBH Select Series - Large Cap Fund will be reported in Box 1a on your Form 1099-DIV and is considered an ordinary dividend for federal income tax purposes. The ordinary dividend amount shown in Box 1b is qualified dividend income and may be subject to a reduced tax rate.

The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 (TCJA) retained preferential rates on qualified dividends and the 3.8% net investment tax. The TCJA separated the tax-rate thresholds for dividend income from the tax brackets for ordinary income for taxpayers with higher income and is capped at 20%. The rate on qualified dividends applies to dividends paid by most domestic and foreign corporations to BBH Select Series - Large Cap Fund which were held by the Fund for at least 61 days during the 121-day period beginning 60 days before the stock's ex-dividend date. In order to claim this reduced rate of tax on qualified dividends, you, as a shareholder, must also satisfy the holding period requirements mentioned previously. Therefore, you must determine if your shares in the Fund have been held for at least 61 days during the 121-day period beginning 60 days before the Fund's ex-dividend date (please refer to table above for ex-dividend dates) to determine the amount of qualified dividend income shown in Box 1b that may be subject to a reduced maximum tax rate. If you should determine that any of the qualified dividend income shown in Box 1b is no longer qualified due to holding period violations of your shares, the dividend income will not be subject to the reduced maximum tax rate and should be reported with other non-qualified dividend income.

State and Local Tax Information

Interest from direct obligations of the U.S. Government is specifically exempted from state and local income taxes when held directly by taxpayers. All states allow the character of interest income from direct obligations of the U.S. Government received by BBH Select Series - Large Cap Fund to pass through to its shareholders, subject to certain state threshold requirements.
